

The Connection

The Newsletter of Shiloh Church, UCC

February 2012

The first half of the liturgical church year, roughly the end of November through much of May, contains the story of Jesus Christ as God's Sacrament. Put differently, Jesus is the means by which God does the work of salvation. The story spans from anticipation of his birth to just prior to the time at which God makes available God's Holy Spirit to others, at Pentecost. The second half of the liturgical church year, beginning sometime in late May and continuing to the end of November or early December, is the story of God working through the Church to achieve salvation. This work relies on the Church to hear God's voice, listen to God's directives and embody God's call. The Church engages in its sacramental work when it hears, listens and embodies that to which God has called the faithful.

F R O M T H E

PASTOR

Ironically, the first half of the liturgical church year carries the excitement, with Christmas and Easter. The second half, focusing on the ministry and mission of the Church of Jesus Christ, offers little celebration. One would imagine that the Church would embrace the half of the year that focuses on its sacramental work. One would assume that the Church would prefer learning its role, its task, its calling. Not the case. The Church prefers to hear about Jesus and what he does for us as God's Sacrament. Even so, the story differs from year to year. The story of Jesus is far from uniform in the witness of the Gospel writers. Each telling is distinct. Mark, the first of the Gospels written, is written to the Resurrection Communities of the Apostolic Age to relate the story of Jesus within a context that focuses only on his Crucifixion/Resurrection. Matthew's Gospel is written just less than ten years later to recruit Jewish followers for the Jesus movement. Luke is written soon thereafter and is written to recruit Gentile proselytes. John's Gospel is not written for another forty or fifty years, and stands as a sustained argument in the early church against the process of institutionalization.

Through the processes of historical and literary development, Jesus becomes increasingly divine. In Mark, Jesus is a human being who is adopted by God in spiritual baptism to be God's Sacrament. In Matthew, Jesus is a human being who is sent by God to be the Messiah to God's people, a salvation that those people reject. In Luke, Jesus is superhuman, sent from God as Savior of humankind. In John, Jesus is God con carne, God incarnated to fully reveal God's will to humanity.

Those who utilize the Revised Common Lectionary are in year "B" of the Gospel-based structure. We are reading from the Gospel according to Mark. This account is written to Resurrection Communities of the Apostolic Age. Those communities expected God's kingdom imminently. It mattered to these communities only that Christ was crucified and resurrected. The impact of his sacrifice is the means by which God saves humankind. The Crucifixion/Resurrection therefore becomes a model by which all faithful would be expected to live. Crucifixion/Resurrection is archetype for Apostolic Age virtue. It is a way of life, dictated by the Sacrament of Christ, to which the faithful are accountable.

The question of year "B" of the Revised Common Lectionary would be, "Just how are we, the contemporary followers of Christ, empowered to live out the archetype of Crucifixion/Resurrection?" The answer, given Mark's understanding of Jesus, and the audience that the author of Mark addresses, is simple. We are empowered just as Christ had been. We are empowered by spiritual baptism. We, like him, are humans, adopted by God in spiritual baptism, to be God's Sacrament to all humankind.

Both halves of the Liturgical Church Year are unified in Mark's understanding of Christ. Because the followers of Christ are accountable to the archetype that Christ establishes, Christ's followers become like Christ. They are empowered, like Christ had been, by God's Holy Spirit. They are empowered to be God's salvation to all humanity. The Sacrament of Christ becomes one with the sacramental work of the Church in hearing, listening to and embodying the archetype of Crucifixion/Resurrection.

Thus the work of the Church in year "B" of the Revised Common Lectionary is defined. Join us in embodying the archetype of the Christian faith.

REMINDER

When you, a family member or a Shiloh member is hospitalized, PLEASE contact the church office. The hospitals are not allowed to call the church for you. The Shiloh staff wants to know whenever one of our members is hospitalized so we can provide support. Thank you!

FEBRUARY ACTIONEER

Our Actioneer for February is Melinda Hofstetter. Melinda uses her God-given talent as a violinist in many ways, not only to benefit the church but also the community as a whole. She often is a soloist in our worship services, plays in the orchestra at Christmas, and plays in many community events. As a Shiloh deacon, Melinda plays for communion services held at Friendship Village and Maria Joseph Care Center, and will be continuously seen strolling around Friendship at Christmas time for our big program. She often plays at funerals to assist in the service for those who have passed on. Other deacon duties she performs include calling and or sending cards to those who are homebound or ill. She also delivers flowers and does inspirational moments of openings and closing to the deacons meetings. Her friendly personality adds even more joy to those who are inspired by her music. I personally can add that while I was ill over the first part of the year, she was the one who called me on behalf of the deacons to see how I was. Her call really lifted my spirits and put me in a wonderful mood. Thanks, Melinda, for all you do and will continue to in Living the Word by Serving the World.

Pastor Jay

Church Hospitality and Outreach

Adapted from "The Friendship Factor" in 52 Ways to Ignite Your Congregation...Practical Hospitality
by Randy Hammer

Martha Grace Reese, in her book titled Unbinding the Gospel, Real Life Evangelism, states that almost 60 percent of people first visit a new church because someone invited them or they know someone in that church. This is consistent with other statistics.

Church revitalization experts contend that before newcomers can really feel at home in a church they must have made some friends there. Oftentimes such friendships can form because of similar ages or particular interests. People look forward to coming to church in part because they know they are going to find some friends there who know their names and who also look forward to seeing and spending time with them.

As we think about how the church can continue to grow in the ministry of hospitality and welcome, we do well to think about ways all of us can promote the "friendship factor" in our congregation. We can:

- Go out of our way to make friends with newcomers.
- Make sure that no one is sitting or standing alone.
- Invite newcomers of like ages or with similar interests to our homes for coffee or a meal.
- Invite newcomers to small group meetings.
- Do what we can to be a friendly support when we learn of a personal or family need that someone might have.

As we become more intentional about promoting and nurturing new friendships in our congregation, we move closer toward becoming the church that God calls us to be. We also see the fruits of our efforts in the continued growth of our congregation and the growth of talents and individual resources that new members bring with them.

New Member Sunday

The next New Member Sunday will be held at Shiloh Church on February 19. An orientation session for those who may be interested in membership will be offered on Thursday, February 16, at 7:00 p.m. in the downstairs Large Conference Room. New members will be received at all three worship services on the 19th. Talk with Jay McMillen, Carl Robinson or Dick Van Tine if you may be interested in membership.

The new console for the Shiloh organ

Here's how it happened

Aaron Sheaffer, Organist

Shiloh Church has one of the best pipe organs in the Dayton area. But the organ console (which makes it all work) has been failing for some years. While most organ pipes and parts are easily repaired (thus, pipe organs can last for centuries), the old-style pneumatic/mechanical console parts cannot be. They must be replaced.

Unknown to us, Shiloh member Fred Luther who died in December 2009, established a Trust Fund designed to enable churches to apply for a grant to fund a major project. In August 2011 the Trustees of the Fund sent a letter inviting Shiloh to make such a proposal of approximately $100,000. Executive Committee recommended the organ console project. Replacing the console and making it moveable was needed as the first step in Chancel re-design.

The proposal was due by September 30. We quickly contacted organ companies who had placed bids three years earlier to update their bids. The preferred bid by the Allen Organ Company of Pennsylvania includes, in addition to the complete console replacement and installation, four new electronic 32' (very low) stops.

The bid date was met. Through October and November we waited eagerly, of course, especially since our request was for $141,588. On December 2, Attorney Daryl Douple, a Trustee of the fund, brought a check for the project to the church office.

Here is what we will be "getting":

1. New console in Oak finish (matching the present organ chamber screens); adjustable (up-down) bench with back; platform on wheels so console can be moved around the stage.
2. Built into the console will be digital memory for the combination pistons. (We now have 10 General pistons; we will have a virtually unlimited number, thanks to digital memory and "flash drives"!)
3. MIDI unit which will provide hundreds of additional voices (musical instruments, additional pipe sounds and voices).
4. Digital recording which will allow the instrument to record anything that is played and play it back (on the pipes!) exactly.

The sequence will be something like this:

1. The order was placed in late December with payment of one-half of the cost.
2. Allen will do the design of all the parts of the console so that it matches all the needs and features of our Möller Pipe Organ. All existing pipes and devices will be controlled by the new console.
3. The console has been placed in factory production sequence. Delivery will likely be early fall with actual installation to take as much as six weeks. (Let's think "Christmas Gift".)

The following listing of special and memorial contributions shows those being honored as well as those who have made gifts that were received prior to January 18, 2012.

Final Numbers for Paper Recycling 2011

Well, the year 2011 is behind us and what a year for Recycling Paper here at Shiloh. Over this year we have seen more people bringing in their recycling paper to put in the bin and the youth thank you. Just a reminder for 2012, that no cardboard should be placed in container. And our goal for 2012 is to have 40 tons of paper recycled. Below is how we finished up the year in 2011 and how the numbers compare to 2010.

2011	2010
37.85 tons of paper recycled	31.12 tons of paper
113.5 cubic yards of landfill saved	93.36 yards saved

Stewardship Message

January 22, 2012

Good Morning, Shiloh! Happy New Year! OK, it's a bit belated, but it is still January, at least! I'm glad to see you all made it through another holiday season. You know things can get so crazy with everything that has to be done, between shopping, decorations, visiting family, preparing meals, and so on. I want to take a moment and reflect on what we may have missed if we weren't paying attention.

Christmas...Advent...and the marking of a new year. This is the season of new beginnings. Advent itself means the birth of something new. The birth of a Savior, the birth of a new way of life, the birth of an entirely new world. The birth of God's kingdom, right here on Earth.

This message is nothing new, right? This is the message we carry forth from Shiloh every week. We are all God's children, each of us with the same authority and responsibility to be God's agents in the world. But this season, as we gear up for the new year, I want to invite you to continue to carry this spirit in a way that may be new to you. I want each of us to think about stewardship from the perspective of Advent, or new birth.

What does it mean to apply an Advent mentality to our stewardship? In the context of our recent Congregational meetings dealing with church finances, I think it means this: that Shiloh is on the verge of something new. It does not matter whether we chose the path on which we now find ourselves, or whether the church or the world changed around us. There is no denying we have learned that the old ways of doing business, the old models of church finances, are no longer working for us. Clearly, Shiloh has a history of many wonderful benefactors: patrons...saints...heroes. We all know the stories of those dear departed who, in Shiloh's times of need, stepped up and saved the day—please, don't get me wrong, I'm not knocking those wonderful people or the beauty of their gifts and actions. But what does give me reason for concern is that I believe we, as a congregation, have become complacent with that concept. We have become accustomed to letting that business model occur. We have, dare I say it, come to the expectation that it will continue to happen, to the point where it is inconceivable to many of us that it could ever fail to happen—that there might not be some hero coming to our financial rescue. Further, and here is my point, I believe many of us have forgotten, and many more of us have never known in the first place, what we would have to do if it were up to us...just us, with no outside assistance...to sustain and steward the ministries of Shiloh Church.

Are you seeing where I'm going with this? Here is my wish as we begin this new year. It is nothing more and nothing less than that we usher in a new way of thinking about the ministries of Shiloh Church. That we not put our faith in the expectation of some patron to save the day in heroic fashion. That we take to heart and humbly give the service and sacrifice that comes with the title of "steward". That this season of new beginnings, and always, we put our faith in God only, and that through such faith, service, and sacrifice, Shiloh Church leads the way in bringing a new kingdom of faith to our community.

May God bless and sustain us!

University of Dayton Lifelong Learning Institute

Carl Robinson will be teaching a class in the University of Dayton Lifelong Learning Institute, entitled "A Bible Toolbox." The class will be held on Monday mornings, on February 6, 13 and 20, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the new River Campus. The course description reads:

Bible study is a skill for which one needs tools, a process and practice.

"A Bible Toolbox" is meant to provide participants with some tools and a methodology for reading, studying and understanding biblical literature.

This workshop is designed to take us to the point of practical biblical interpretation.

Our hope is that this class might offer a starting point for deeper examination of specific biblical genres, or even specific biblical books. Look for other opportunities through the University of Dayton Lifelong Learning Institute by picking up the brochure from the Library Table in the hallway outside the Art Gallery.

Bible @ Boston's

Bible @ Boston's has resumed with a few introductory sessions to the literature of the New Testament. When we complete the introductions, we will examine the Letters of Paul, the Letter to the Hebrews, the Synoptic Gospels, the Revelation to St. John, the Gospel of John, and the Encyclical/Pastoral Letters.

Join us each Wednesday, 6:00 - 7:00 p.m. in the Doghouse at Boston's Bistro and Pub.

WOMEN'S BOARD REPORT 2011

The Board consists of representatives of organizations in the church which include women in their membership. The Board has one representative on Church Council, rather than representatives from each Board member organization.

Throughout the year, we sponsor fund-raising activities and in 2011 distributed them:

Ham Loaves	$ 803.73
Garage Sale	2,287.92
Marchele Pretzels	320.00
Trophy Nut Products	481.76
Celebration Dinner Ticket Sales	1,088.00
June Fellowship Dinner	145.14
Total:	$ 5,126.55

Donation	Amount
Celebration Dinner/Ministries Fund	$ 2,200.00

Contribution to New Carpet	394.00
Advertising Banner	108.00
Receptions	100.09
Homeless Shelter	106.75
Total:	$ 4,262.79

We tried to figure the working hours spent, but we had to stop at over 500 because we would need to multiply by many women for each one! Needless to say, we all pitch in where needed!

As an addendum, in January, we voted to give an additional $1,000 to the Ministries Fund for 2012. Questions? Call Marilyn Schmidt, Secretary--836-3262.

Letter from Janet Ferguson

Shiloh Church was a very "spicy" place during the Fellowship Luncheon on Sunday, January 15! We hosted our first annual Chili Cook-off and it was a big hit! We had four HOT chefs – Patty and Doug Farinet, Tammy Greenburg and "Mr. Hot and Spicy" himself – Jay McMillen!! Everyone tasted the four delicious varieties of chili and voted. The big winner was Tammy Greenburg! However, the voting was very close! All will agree that this event was lots of fun and needs to happen again next year. We already have two challengers who would like to compete against the Chili Queen, Tammy Greenburg. So all of you great chefs – get ready for next year when Shiloh will taste to see who can bring in the HEAT and COMPETE at the Second Annual Chili Cook-off!

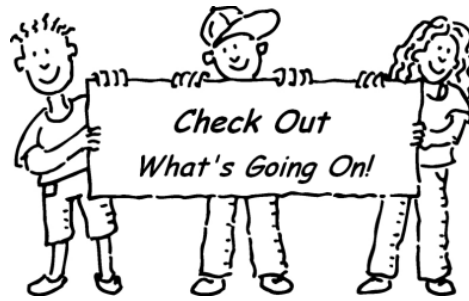

A BIG thank you to the Fundraising Committee for preparing the delicious supporting food: Jay and Dawn McMillen, Lisa Neff, Roger Smith and Janet Ferguson. Also – an even BIGGER thank you to our wonderful Shiloh Youth Group who helped set up, clean up and serve the chili! Our January Fellowship luncheon was full of FUN and GREAT fellowship!!

So much excitement is in the air at Shiloh! We continue to have much to celebrate!

Think about the following AMAZING happenings:

- our generous grant given to update our beautiful pipe organ
- our budget is on track (without a deficit) until April
- our Endowment Fund is ABOVE the benchmark
- our exciting new website is nearly up and running
- our committees are off to a fresh start with new members and many exciting ideas in the works
- our Planning, Communication and Bylaws groups are working hard to reorganize our church structure
- our Mission Team is planning a trip to Haiti this summer
- our newest committee will begin planning to remodel our chancel in the sanctuary

This list is not complete for there is MUCH more going on at Shiloh!! As you look at the list – treasure the wonderful family at Shiloh and - - if you are not involved – consider joining one of the groups in the list. Shiloh is ALIVE and THRIVING!
Happily submitted by Janet Ferguson, Council President

FLOWER DEDICATION PROCEDURE

Because Shiloh Church is trying to cut costs, and because the church receives the money for less than half of its flower dedications, we have changed the manner in which dedications are made and flowers placed. You may now find forms for flower dedications each month in the Connection and on the Green Table in the Narthex. Forms must be submitted at least one week in advance, with $20.00 payment, in order to be placed in the bulletin and to place flowers in the Chancel. Those who are accustomed to being contacted by the church for flower dedications will want to take note that no such contact will now be made. Remember to mark on the dedication form whether you wish to take your flowers, or if you would like the Deacons to deliver them to those who are ill or shut in. Thank you in advance for your cooperation.
